In celebration of Earth Day, and reflect on our JEDI workshop activities with Dr. Nicole J. Harris, QuEST Trainees and Leadership took a hike at Red Rocks in South Burlington. We enjoyed the beautiful sunshine and being in community with each other. The group participated in sharing valuable learning experiences as part of QuEST, in one’s research, across their academic units and/or labs. Encouraging time to self-reflect and taking the opportunity to chat with peers, we then ended our day with a delicious meal at American Flatbread to celebrate another successful year!
